Teacher For ... Better Business Bureau

IN THE VALLEY OF THE MOON

Well. . . Well. . . Well. . . We received the following letter and we are always happy to hear from educated people who appreciate the finer things in life!!!

Bill Sandlin
P.O. Box 446
Boyes Hot Springs, Calif.

Dear Bill:

Thought I would drop a line and let you know I enjoy your fine paper. . . I am the editor of the Valley of the Moon Teachers Assn. News Bulletin and thought perhaps you might like to have one of our recent copies.

I think there are some (at least one) business men in the valley who should be checked from time to time, but having no Better Business Bureau in the valley we are almost powerless to do anything about it.

Congratulations on doing such a fine job with Moonbeams . . . some of the jokes are real classics.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ RICHARD ALEXANDER
P.O. Box 632

PUBLIC SERVANT NO. 1

Howdy Readers—This is the first of a series of "Public Servant No. 1", in other words short stories from the memory of a law enforcement officer.

During the past 20 years the writer has packed some type of a star, city, county, state, or federal, and during this time many things of human interest have happened. Some have been funny, some very sad, some very good, and some very bad.

I will never forget one summer night or should I say one early morning about 3 a.m. when a woman driving a car from Kansas asked me, where she might locate a doctor at that hour. Knowing there were no doctors for some 50 miles and also taking notice that she was expecting twins any day, I asked her what her trouble was. She said: "I have been traveling the last five days and nights, staying in this motel and that hotel along the line and some place I picked up some crabs and they are driving me crazy."

Having been in the service I had heard the boys talking about crabs, but I had never had any personal experience with them, but I told her that I had always heard that if one would rub the crabs with alcohol and sand that they would soon be dead. This sounded funny to her, and she wanted to know more about it. So I told her it seems that the crabs get drunk from the alcohol and then stone each other to death with the sand. At least that is what the big boys had told me.

I had a friend who was a medic in a military base about 12 miles away, so I phoned him and he fixed the woman up with a bottle of stuff he said would do the job and left it at the main gate for her to pick up.

The next time I seen this woman she had lost quite a bit of weight and during this time had bought a dog which at this time had a broken leg, and again she came to me for aid.

The above story is just one of the thousands of services asked daily of some law enforcement officer, or "Public Servant No. 1".
